A full education is now available to this area, as is symbolized here, on the doorstep of Western Nevada Community College by Kerri Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. "Corky" Smith, now entering the first grade and by Maria Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Clark Davis, wearing the symbolic graduation gown. According to Harold Jacobson, of Carson City, chairman of the Board of Regents, University of Nevada System, registration predictions for Western Nevada Community College will reach a 300 percent increase in Carson City alone with the equivalent of 1,000 full time students registering this year, in the system.

Mr. Bill Fisher
Secretary-Treasurer
Western Nevada Community College
P.O. Box 910
Carson City, Nevada 89701

Dear Bill,

Western Nevada Community College is headquartered in Carson City because of the initiative of the people living in this community. The backing of the people and institutions of this community is going to make Carson City a focal point of educational opportunity for the people of Nevada. The first building to go up will be the academic building, with plans for the first vocational and technical building to be the next one erected.

The registration process is well underway and already hundreds of citizens have registered for this fall term. We must continue to work hard to attract the people to Carson City because of the opportunities for educational advancement.

Sincerely,

Harold J. Jacobsen, Chairman

Congratulations...

And Best Wishes to Western Nevada Community College

We’re proud to have you as part of our Community. We wish you success, good fortune and long life — and to the fortunate students who will receive their higher education through your efforts — we congratulate you on being the first graduating class in the not too distant future. As President of the Carson City Chamber of Commerce during the formative stage of the college, I’m proud to have been a part of the tremendous effort that was expended in order to make this college a reality.

Expanded activities and courses feature second year

The Western Nevada Community College will commence the second year of operation on 28 August. We are prepared to offer an expanded program of activities and courses for WNCC students. Support services in counseling, library, financial aid, and facilities have been added to accommodate the anticipated increasing enrollment.

Our aim is to provide educational services for people of varying age groups and levels of interest. Our philosophy for the community college learner is:

1. A person who is accepted for what he is and where he is academically; his learning experiences are to be carried forward from this point.
2. The learning experiences are individualized to his specific needs and talents.
3. The learner sees value in real-life experiences that are made useful through immediate application.

4. The learner is motivated by the learn-by-doing approach to education.
5. The learner develops pride, a sense of belonging, and a sense of accomplishment because he is involved in programs that provide a goal that he can attain.

It is our sincere hope that now and for the months and years ahead the people of this community and Carson City and the surrounding area will give us direction in what you desire in classes and programs to be provided during the day or night.

"Carson City school district and all its personnel will continue to give their fullest support and cooperation to the community college," he emphasized.

ADMISSION INFORMATION

Western Nevada Community College adheres to the open door admission policy. This applies to admission to the college and not admission to a specific curriculum or course. The open door college will have closed door curricula. If a student lacks the proper preparation, he may need a semester or two in developmental courses in order to prepare him for the occupational or university parallel courses. The community college opens wide the door of opportunity but it still must adhere to quality programs at all levels.

It is imperative that the community colleges offer a wide range of courses and curricula in order to satisfy the wide range of abilities in its student body. There must be several levels of many different courses, particularly in English, mathematics, and reading. There must also be different levels of occupational curricula and these must have different admission standards.

All students in the community colleges must have a high school diploma or its equivalent to enter the occupational programs or the university parallel programs. A passing grade on the GED test will be accepted as a substitute for a high school diploma. An individual over 18 not possessing a high school diploma or its equivalent may enroll in occupational courses upon approval of the executive vice-president.

All adults over the age of 18 who are capable of profiting from the instruction offered are eligible to enroll in any community service programs or developmental programs or guidance programs and services.

High school seniors may be admitted for not more than two courses upon recommendation of their high school principal; if they plan to enroll in university parallel courses, they must also have a 3.0 average in high school.

The goal of the community college is to provide post-secondary education for all who seek it. The admissions standards reflect this goal but also reflect a desire on the part of community colleges in Nevada to maintain high quality programs.
J. CLARK DAVIS
Executive Director

A native of southern California, J. Clark Davis attended the University of Nevada, Reno from 1947 through 1950, at which time he was awarded a B.A. degree, having majored in physical education. In the same year, he was employed as a teacher and coach at the Fallon High School. This career interrupted by the Korean War, Mr. Davis became an infantry officer serving as a company commander in Korea. After the war in 1955, while seeking to return to his educational field, he worked for several months as a dog car driver for the Nabisco Mining Company. That same year, a position with the Battle Mountain elementary school opened, and he became the teacher and principal. During summers he worked for a master’s degree in elementary administration at Stanford University.

Mr. Eardley was born in Rust, Nevada, graduated from White Pine High School, and pursued his undergraduate studies at Utah State University. He then undertook his post-graduate work at the University of Reno where he was awarded a masters degree in education.

For the past twenty years, Mr. Eardley has been involved in adult education programs in the State of Nevada and is currently qualified for the work of administering joint programs in adult education.

SHERIE SMITH
Administrative Office

A native of Western Nevada, Sherie Smith was born in Reno and was raised in Carson City. In 1963, she graduated from Carson City High School and within a year was attending the University of Nevada in Reno where she pursued a major in education from 1964 to 1966.

This background in education serves her well in her present capacity, where with an experienced eye she can sort out with understanding the administrative and curricular details that constantly cross her desk. Her secretarial experience was gained when she held the positions of secretary to the Lawyers Title Insurance Corporation in Reno from 1966 to 1977.

JEAN NELSON
Instructor of English

Now a resident of Lemmon Valley, Jean Nelson’s career has involved a good deal of travelling, first from the midwest to Maine, then to our home of birth, to the east coast and Maryland where she attended Good College at Frederick and where she won admittance through a successful professional and personal interview. Mrs. Nelson has a master’s degree from the University of Nevada in Reno and has other graduate work at Harvard University.

Mr. Fry was born in Edinburgh, Scotland, and received his B.A. degree in philosophy and English literature from the University of Edinburgh. He then attended Stanford University and was awarded a master’s degree in English.

GEORGE FRY
Instructor of English

GEORGE FRY
Instructor and Counseling

Mr. Fry was born in New Britain, Connecticut, has spent a large portion of his life in New England. It was there that he attended high school and would probably still be living there if not fate chosen otherwise, for in 1959 he moved to Reno, Nevada. He was awarded a master’s degree in English.

It was at this point that he came to Reno and began working as a graduate fellow. He has recently fulfilled requirements for the English degree. Mrs. Nelson serves today as the instructor of English with Western Nevada Community College, a post to which she has brought considerable talents for just over a year.

SHERIE SMITH
Administrative Office

In 1965, leaving the University, she pointed herself in new directions and travelled throughout the country as a graduate student at Russell Sage College, in the field of social services. In 1968, she settled in Reno working as a secretary to the Office of the Dean of Arts and Sciences at the University of Nevada.

Mrs. Nelson is now a member of the secretarial staff of Western Nevada Community College.
BERNICE MARTIN
Nursing
A graduate of the Orvis School of Nursing on the Reno campus of the University of Nevada, Mrs. Bernice Martin began her lower division undergraduate work at Jackson State College, Jackson, Mississippi.

JOE AYARBE
Political Science
Born in Ely, Nevada, Joe Ayarbe graduated from White Pine High School in 1947, after which he attended the University of Nevada at Las Vegas. Securing his B.S. degree in political science in 1964, Mr. Ayarbe later became assistant professor in the Department of History at the University of Nevada, Reno.

JOE AYARBE
Teacher
In 1964, Mr. Ayarbe moved to California and for the next fifteen years taught in number of California school districts and pursued advanced studies at the University of California at Berkeley. In 1969 he came to Reno as head of the business technology program at the University of Nevada, Reno.

JOE AYARBE
Instructor
Prior to joining the faculty of Western Nevada Community College, Mr. Ayarbe served as instructor at the University of Nevada, Reno.

LOS PETERSEN
Secretarial Science
Instructor
Born in W Ashley, Iowa, Mrs. Lois Petersen remained a resident of her native state until 1962. In 1962, after having worked as head of part-time secretary for four years, Mrs. Petersen graduated from the University of Nevada, Reno, with a B.A. in business administration and economics.

CHANCEY OAKLEY
Mathematics Instructor
Awarded a doctorate in June of this year, Dr. Crandall comes to us evidently qualified to give us a different perspective and to point out to us the fields of instructional media and administration, and hold him in high estimation of Director of Learning Resources.

FELIX YOUNG
Head of Radiology Technology
Though born in McKenzie, Tennessee, Felix Young launched his career in Colorado in 1938 when he became an employee of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company. Later, leaving a sales position with Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company as a retail store manager, Mr. Young became construction mechanic for the United States Army during World War II. After the war, he returned to the business world in the position of business manager and later sales manager for four years of service with the United States Army.

Mrs. Martin entered the field of nursing in 1960 upon the occasion of her employment at the Washoe Medical Center in Reno.

Miss Dick was graduated from Frontier High School in 1968 and went on to the University of Nevada, Reno where she pursued an undergraduate program, majoring in business administration.

During the summer of 1969 and 1970, she gained practical experience in her present secretarial-receptionist capacity through employment with the Pacific Motor Trucking Company of Reno. Following this period, she served in turn with the Bank of America and then with Harrah's as secretary in their reservations office in Reno.

LESLIE SHERIEN
Coordinator, Associate Degree Programs
A product of New England, Leslie Sherien lists among her many past activities and occupations industrial engineer, public health nurse, nursing instructor, school nurse, ski instructor, salesgirl, tailor, mother and wife. A vital, dynamic individual, she received a B.A. in science from the University of New Hampshire in 1943, following which she pursued an active career in engineering. However a stronger calling was for her, which led her towards a masters in nursing at the Yale School of Nursing in 1950. She then went on to nursing became a recurrent vocation, fitted in between her other children and other interests.

DEBRA DICK
Secretary
Student Services
Hailing originally from Elko, Nevada, Miss Debra Dick brings charm, friendliness, and efficiency to the position of secretary of student services. She is the first person most students of Western Nevada College encounter when they come to the Carson City campus.

Miss Petersen graduated from Waverly College, Waverly, Iowa, with a B.A. in business administration and economics.

CHANCEY OAKLEY
Mathematics Instructor
In 1954, Mr. Young moved to California and for the next fifteen years taught in number of California school districts and pursued advanced studies at the University of California at Berkeley. In 1969 he came to Reno as head of the business technology program at the University of Nevada, Reno.

For the last year he has served in the same capacity with Western Nevada Community College.

New college set for fall 1974

The Western Nevada Community College Carson City Campus facility is now in the early design stage. The architects have developed a preliminary campus plan and this has been approved by the WNCC advisory committee and the Board of Regents.

A 200-acre site was provided by the Nevada State Legislature for the Community College. It is located in the Carson City foothills northwest of Winnie Lane. Easements and grants of right-of-way have been signed with Sierra Pacific Power, Bell Telephone Company of Nevada, and Carson City to provide utilities for the site.

Educational specifications have been developed by the College and staff and presented to the architects as a direction for facility design. The first phase of the new community college facility will include the following spaces:

1. A learning resource center
2. Student center
3. Four general classrooms
4. A graphic arts and printing classroom
5. Two business occupation classrooms
6. One science classroom and lab
7. A bookstore
8. Administration and staff offices
9. Large group meeting area

A total of 33,000 square feet has been allotted for the Phase I construction. It is anticipated that the architects will present preliminary sketches and drawings for approval about October 1. The final working drawings should be completed by March 1, and be bid by contractors shortly thereafter. In all probability, the new facility should be ready for occupancy for the fall semester of 1974.
